

Privacy Policy

January 10, 2022

Your privacy is very important to us. Dank Memetics Inc., a Corporation organized and existing under Delaware law (together with its subsidiaries and other affiliated entities, “Dank Bank”) is committed to maintaining your privacy.

This privacy policy is intended to inform you of:

- The types of information we collect
- How we use information we collect
- How we share information we collect
- How we safeguard information we collect
- Other important privacy information

This policy applies to you whenever you access or use any domains or subdomains of our website at <http://www.DankBank.co> (the “Website”), or when you access, use or download any products, services, features, content, widgets, materials or other tools offered by DankBank (collectively, “Services”). This policy does not govern information you choose to exchange directly with other users of the Website, including communications or transactions with other users via the discord channel, as we have no direct control over the collection or use of this information. Please use appropriate precautions in sharing your information with these users. Also please note that your relationship with DankBank is also governed by our Terms of Use and the blockchain transaction agreements you may enter in connection with making a purchase through our Website.

1. Types of Information We Collect

To provide our Services, and facilitate exchanges between users of the Website, we do not obtain personal information directly from you but may obtain information indirectly through electronic communications and third parties (e.g., email, discord, twitter). We do not save or store any sensitive wallet information, private keys, or transaction details.

Automatically or Passively Collected Information: In addition to information you may directly provide us, we may automatically or passively collect information when you access or use our services, including your IP address, device identifiers, click path, use of our Website and other electronic data. We may also record page views (hit counts) and other general statistical and tracking information, which will be aggregated with that of other users in order to understand how our Website is being used, and for security and monitoring purposes. In order to determine whether your computer is supported by our system, we may collect additional technical information, including your operating system and browser, as well as the presence of any software that our Website may require to operate with your computer, or other third party software on your computer. A “cookie” is a small amount of data, often including an anonymous unique identifier, which is sent to your browser from a website's computers and stored on your computer's hard drive. Cookies can be used to provide you with a tailored user experience and to make it easier for you to use a website upon a future visit. We may include cookies on our Website and use them to recognize you when you return to our Website. You may set your browser so that it does not accept cookies. Cookies must be enabled on your web browser, however, if you wish to access certain personalized features of our Services. By using the Website, you consent to this use. We may also use so-called "pixel tags" – small graphic images (also know as "web beacons" or "single-pixel GIFS") – to tell us what parts of our website have been visited or to measure the effectiveness of searches customers perform on our Site. Pixel tags also enable us to send email messages in a format customers can read, and they inform us whether emails have been opened, to help ensure that our messages are of interest to our users. You can "opt-out" of receiving these types of communications from us by following the directions provided elsewhere in this policy. (Is this relevant?) Some web browsers transmit “do-not-track” signals to websites. At this time, our Services are not designed to respond to these signals or similar mechanisms from browsers.

We may send email messages that use a “click-through URL” linked to content on our Website. When you click one of these URLs, you pass through our web server before arriving at the destination web page. We track this click-through data to help determine interest in particular topics and measure the effectiveness of our communications. If you prefer not to be tracked, simply do not click text or graphiclinks in the email, or notify us at hello@dankbank.co.

Information Related to Your use of the Services: We collect certain information about you when you visit the Website and interact with any of our Services. We collect information about when you useServices, the pages within the Website you visit, the links you click on, and the search terms you use.

2. How We Use Information We Collect

- Contact you or, if applicable, your designated representative(s) by post, telephone, text message, electronic mail, facsimile, etc., in connection with your relationship with Dank Bank, including with information and updates about our Services.

In addition, if we are involved in a merger, acquisition, financing due diligence, reorganization, bankruptcy, creation of a trust or other affiliated entity, receivership or sale of Dank Bank's assets, or other corporate transaction affecting Dank Bank, your information may be shared, transferred or sold under a duty of confidentiality as part of a transaction as permitted by law or by contract. If your relationship with Dank Bank ends, we will continue to treat your personal information, to the extent we retain it, as described in this policy.

3. How We Share Information We Collect

We do not share personal data with third parties for their direct marketing or similar purposes without your consent. We also do not offer financial incentives, preferential service agreements, or any other differences in our prices or Services in exchange for your data.

The manner in which partners, service providers and others with whom we share and/or disclose your information is governed by the policies of such parties, and we shall have no liability or responsibility for the privacy practices or other actions of any such parties. Generally, you can easily recognize when one of our partners is associated with a service. However, certain parties may provide services anonymously, and, in this case, we will only share information that is directly related to the applicable service(s). This may include the incorporation of your personal information into databases maintained to validate information for identity verification, including verification for anti-money laundering and "Know Your Customer" protocols.

The primary situations in which we share your data are as follows:

Potential Business Combination: We may also transfer your personal information to a third party as a result of a business combination, merger, asset sale, reorganization or similar transaction or to governmental authorities when we reasonably believe it is required by law or appropriate to respond to legal process. We will also share your information with third-party companies, organizations or individuals if we have a good faith belief that access, use, preservation or disclosure of your information is reasonably necessary to detect or protect against fraud or security issues, enforce our terms of use, meet any enforceable government request, defend against legal claims or protect against harm our legal rights or safety. In any such event, and to the extent legally permitted, we will notify you and, if there are material changes in relation to the processing of your Personal Information, give you an opportunity to consent to such changes. Any third party with whom we share your data with will be required to provide the same or equal protection of such data as stated in our policy.

Service Providers: To operate the Services we share information about you as needed with our service providers, including financial institutions, broker-dealer(s), accountants, auditors, lawyers, payment processors, information technology consultants, advisors and our affiliates. We only share information to the extent it is required to fulfill our obligations to you and to regulators, and to operate the Website and the Services.

Affiliates: We do routinely share information with companies closely related to us – our "Affiliates" – for certain purposes under this policy. By "Affiliate," we mean an entity that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with DankBank, whether the control results from equity ownership, contract, overlapping management or otherwise. In this context, "control" means the ability to replace the officers or directors or otherwise materially influence or control management decisions. Our Affiliates will be entitled to enjoy our rights under this policy and we will be responsible for our Affiliate's conduct under this policy.

Third-Party Sites: The Website may contain links to third party websites and may redirect you to third party websites. These sites include, among others, service providers who may or may not have a relationship with DankBank. Third party websites are not under our control, and we are not responsible for any third party websites, or the accuracy, sufficiency, correctness, reliability, veracity, completeness, or timeliness of their information, links, changes or updates. The inclusion or access to these websites does not imply an endorsement by DankBank, or of the provider of such content or services, or of any third party website. Please be aware that when you enter a third party website, any information you provide, including financial information, is subject to the terms of use and privacy policy of that website.

4. How We Safeguard Your Personal Information

Security Systems and Processes: We have put in place security systems designed to prevent unauthorized access to or disclosure of Personally Identifiable Information, and we take all reasonable steps to secure and safeguard this Information, including:

- We use industry standard encryption technology for any information we store;
- Dank Bank employees are required to acknowledge that they understand and will abide by this policy with respect to the confidentiality of Personal Information;
- Where applicable, companies that we do business with agree to abide by this policy and apply similar safeguards to Personal Information;
- We provide access to our databases containing Personal Information on a need-to-know basis only;
- We use automated tools to monitor network traffic to identify unauthorized attempts to upload information, change information, or otherwise seek to "hack into" our systems

Our security systems are therefore structured to deter and prevent hackers and others from accessing information you provide to us. Please understand, though, that this information should not be construed as a warranty that our security systems are fail proof. Due to the nature of Internet communications and evolving technologies, we cannot provide and we also disclaim assurance that the information you provide us will remain free from loss, misuse, or alteration by third parties who, despite our efforts, obtain unauthorized access Changes to this Policy: Each time you visit our Website or use our Services, the current version of this privacy policy will apply. When you use our Website, you should check the date of the last update to the policy (which appears at the top of the policy) and review any changes since the last version. Our business changes frequently and this policy is subject to change from time to time. Unless stated otherwise, our current policy applies to all information that we have about you. We may require you to affirmatively assent to a revised version of this policy as a condition of continuing to use the Website or our Services.

Further Resources: If you wish further information concerning privacy policies in general, and concerning online social networking and safety, you should visit the FTC's website.

We Operate in the United States: DankBank is based in the United States. The Services are controlled and operated by us from the United States and are not intended to subject us to the laws or jurisdiction of any state, country or territory other than that of the United States. Your personal information may be stored and processed in any country where we have facilities or in which we engage service providers, and by using the Services, you consent to the transfer of information to countries outside of your country of residence, including the United States, which may have data protection rules that are different from those of your country. In certain circumstances, courts, law enforcement agencies, regulatory agencies or security authorities in those other countries may be entitled to access your personal information.

European Economic Area Residents: If you are an individual residing in the European Economic Area (“EEA”), we collect and process information about you only where we have legal bases for doing so under applicable EU laws, including the General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”). The legal bases depend on the Services you use and how you use them. This means we collect and use your information only where:

- We need it to provide you the Services, including to operate the Services, perform a contract with you, take necessary steps prior to performing a contract or at your request, provide customer support, and to protect the safety and security of the Services;
- It satisfies a legitimate interest (which is not overridden by your data protection interests), such as for research and development, to market and promote the Services, to personalize services you receive, and to protect our legal rights and interests

You give us consent to do so for a specific purpose; or we need to process your data to comply with a legal requirement. If you have consented to our use of information about you for a specific purpose, you may change your mind at any time, but this will not affect any processing that has already taken place. Where we are using your information because we or a third party (e.g. your employer) have a legitimate interest to do so, you may object to that use though, in some cases, this may mean no longer using the Services. To do so, please email us at compliance@DankBank.art.

In the event of a data breach, we will endeavor to notify you within 72 hours of detection of a breach that we conclude poses significant risks to your rights and freedoms under the GDPR. You may also lodge a complaint with a supervisor authority in the EEA member state in which you reside.

Is this an issue here? Will you have European users?

California Residents: Pursuant to Section 1798.83 of the California Civil Code, residents of California have the right to request from a business with which the California resident has an established business relationship what types of personal information, if any, the business shares with third parties for direct marketing purposes by such third parties and the identities of the third parties with whom the business has shared such information in the immediately preceding calendar year. To access this information, please contact us by email at compliance@DankBank.art.

See note above – you are not yet subject to CCPA but doesn’t hurt to comply. But you may not want to commit to doing so in writing!

Vermont Residents: We do not share nonpublic personal financial information we collect about Vermont residents to non-affiliated third parties except for our everyday business purposes or as otherwise permitted by law. If you wish to revoke any authorization to share your nonpublic personal financial information, please contact us for assistance at compliance@DankBank.art, though we will no longer be able to provide you Services or access to the Website.

See note above – Illinois and Vermont (and every month there are more states) have their local rules. Let's discuss!
